CATALOGUE &c. &c.

The number of graduates of the Medical Department of Transylvania University, is sufficiently large to justify the present publication. The pamphlet, issued by the parent school in Philadelphia, a year ago, has been so well received, that we supposed a similar one from the oldest school in the West, would be equally acceptable to its graduates and other friends.

As introductory to the main object, it was deemed proper to give a tabular view of the progress of our school, both in respect of pupils and graduates, from the time of its commencement. It is as follows:

YEARS.	NO. OF PUPILS:	NO. OF GRADUATES:
1819-20	37	7
1820-21	93	14
1821-22	138	37
1822-23	171	51
1823-24	200	46
1824-25	234	56
1825-26	281	65
1826-27	190	53
1827-28	152	53
1828-29	206	40
1829-30	199	72
1830-31	210	54
1831-32	215	74
1832-33	222	69
1833-34	262	66
1834-35	259	83
1835-36	262	75
1836-37	242	78
1837-38	227	64
	3800	1057

The above schedule warrants the assertion, "that for its vigorous prosperity, and the rapid increase of its classes, the Medical school of Transylvania is without a parallel. Certainly in the United States, there is nothing comparable to it. This is the highest eulogy the institution can receive. The most eloquent and forcible language in praise of it would be spiritless and feeble, contrasted with the power of the foregoing figures."

Although the class of 1837-8 was a little below those of the four preceding sessions, the Medical and other Journals of the East, regarded it, as highly creditable to the school, in view of the unequalled embarrassments of the South and South West portions of the country, whence a large share of its pupils is derived. It was decidedly more numerous, than the best friends of Transylvania expected it to be; and proved, beyond controversy, that the school has too warm a place in the affections of its numerous alumni, to justify a doubt concerning its future welfare.

It is quite probable, that some mistakes will be detected in the catalogue, and that a few names may have been omitted. The records having been kept by different persons, exhibit a want of uniformity, and are so unintelligible in some parts, as to render defects unavoidable. Any communications, sent to the Dean, that may serve to make another edition more perfect, will be appropriated to that object.

Three or four marks of reference, require explanation; † is attached to the names of Honorary graduates; * denotes a Greek thesis; ‡ denotes a Latin thesis; § denotes a French thesis; || denotes that the individuals are, or have been Professors in Medical schools.

APPENDIX.

The first session of the school began in November 1819*, in Lexington, with a Faculty composed, as follows:

- BENJ. W. DUDLEY, M. D. Professor of Anatomy & Surgery.
CHARLES CALDWELL, M. D. Professor of Institutes & Materia Medica,
SAMUEL BROWN, M. D. Professor of Theory & Practice.
WM. H. RICHARDSON, M. D. Professor of Obstetrics &c. &c.
JAMES BLYTHE, D. D. Professor of Chemistry.

In the year 1823, the Trustees appointed Daniel Drake, M. D. to the chair of Materia Medica and Medical Botany, making the number of Professors, six.

In the year 1825, the chair of Theory and Practice, vacated by the resignation of Dr. Brown, was again filled by the transfer of Dr. Drake from Materia Medica. To the latter chair, Charles W. Short M. D. was appointed in the same year.

In the year 1827, Dr. Drake resigned his Professorship of the Theory of Practice, and Jno. E. Cooke M. D. was chosen his successor.

In the year 1831, the chair of Chemistry was vacated by the resignation of James Blythe D. D. and the Board of Trustees appointed Lunsford P. Yandell M. D. as principal and H. Hulbert Eaton, as assistant, to fill the vacancy.

No material change occurred in the School, until the year 1837, when a disruption ensued, that seemed for a short season, to jeopardise its very existence. The Trustees, however, undismayed by the circumstances that had gathered around them, soon succeeded in effecting a reorganization, as follows:

- BENJ. W. DUDLEY, M. D. Professor of Anatomy & Surgery.
JAS. C. CROSS, M. D. Professor of Institutes & Jurisprudence.
JOHN EBERLE M. D. Professor of Theory & Practice.
WILLIAM H. RICHARDSON, M. D. Professor of Obstetrics &c.
CHARLES W. SHORT, M. D. Professor of Materia Medica & Medical Botany.
T. D. MITCHELL, M. D. Professor of Chemistry & Pharmacy.
JAS. M. BUSH, M. D. Adjunct Professor of Anatomy & Surgery.

* The organization commenced in 1818, but, the official record is silent in relation to that period.

Notwithstanding the great pecuniary embarrassments of the country, and the peculiar circumstances accompanying the late disorganization, the number of pupils fell short but fifteen of the catalogue of the previous session.

In the month of February 1838, the chair of Theory and Practice became vacant, by the decease of Professor Eberle; and in April, the chair of Materia Medica and Medical Botany was also vacated, by the resignation of Professor Short.—Very soon after the latter event, the Trustees changed the title of the Professorship, to Materia Medica and Therapeutics, to which Professor Mitchell was transferred from Chemistry and Pharmacy; and Robert Peter, M. D. of Lexington, was appointed his successor. The latter gentleman, added to the Chemical department, several powerful Galvanic batteries and a fine collection of apparatus, recently procured from the East; making the laboratory more complete than it ever has been.

Shortly after these arrangements, Nathan R. Smith, M. D. of Baltimore, was appointed to the Chair of Theory and Practice. This gentleman was the first teacher of Anatomy in Jefferson Medical College of Philadelphia, and has since been Professor of Surgery in the University of Maryland. His extensive reputation, as a teacher and writer are too well known, to require further remarks. As a practitioner of Medicine and Surgery, he has long held the highest rank.

The entire course of Lectures in this school, costs the sum of one hundred and five dollars. In addition, the matriculation fee, which entitles the pupil to use the very extensive library, is five dollars. The dissecting ticket is ten dollars, and may be taken or omitted, at pleasure. The dissecting department is under the personal care of Adjunct Professor Bush. As evidence of the facilities for procuring the requisite materials for this department, we give the following document, which was prepared at the last session, and signed by 84 students:

PREAMBLE AND RESOLUTIONS OF THE DISSECTING CLASS.

WHEREAS, a report is abroad among the profession, and has been represented to several of us, not only at home, but on our journey to Transylvania, that few facilities for Anatomical Study could be afforded us in this institution—that we would find, at best, a meagre supply of the requisite material, and be privately and publicly discouraged from dissection, by the Faculty—that, in fact, this School was radically defective in its Anatomical Department. And, whereas, such representations have been urgently pressed upon some of us, with the manifest intention of causing us to stop at other schools, we respectfully submit to the public, the following resolutions:

Resolution 1st. That the representations which, by various means, reached our ears, previous to visiting this School, regarding the defective condition, and scanty supply of the Anatomical Rooms, have proved to be unfounded.

Resolution 2d. That so far as the present session has advanced, (January 2, 1838,) all of us who have applied for Anatomical Material, have been immediately supplied.

Resolution 3d. That a large proportion of the classes are, at this time, actually engaged in practical anatomical investigations; while one half of the members have already enjoyed the advantages of private dissection.

Resolution 4th. That none of us have, at any period, during the course, visited either the public or private dissecting apartments, without finding more than a sufficiency of excellent subjects.

Resolution 5th. That subjects are furnished us at a very moderate price.

Resolution 6th. That the resolutions above, be signed by all the members of the Dissecting Class.

Resolution 7th. That we respectfully request the Dean of the Medical Faculty, to cause to be published in the annual Catalogue, the foregoing resolutions, signed by all the members of the Dissecting Class.

In addition to the above anatomical advantages, it is proper to state, that very extensive additions will be made to the preparations and morbid specimens of the department; for the reception and display of which, an ample gallery will be erected, in immediate connexion with the anatomical theatre.

Excellent boarding and lodging, (including fuel and light,) can be obtained (for three hundred pupils) at the price of from $2,50 to $4 per week. It is now well known, that no site of a medical school, in the Union, is more free of vicious inducements; and the friendly and social intercourse that is observed towards the students, by the citizens of Lexington, is proverbial. It may be added, further, that no pains will be spared by the Faculty, to augment the facilities already enjoyed by the Lexington school, to send out a first rate order of young men, as substantial proofs of her inherent advantages. To students, who purpose to settle in the South, we would say, that Lexington offers the very best opportunity for acquiring accurate information in regard to the most desirable points. A very large share of her annual classes, is from the Southern and South Western country, and more useful intelligence can be had from this source, than by a tour of several months.

The qualifications for becoming candidates for the degree of Doctor of Medicine, are as follow:

The persons offering must be 21 years of age, and must have been engaged in the study of medicine during three years. Two full courses of lectures in a chartered medical school, (the last of which in this Institution) are also requisite. But persons who exhibit satisfactory proof of having been engaged in reputable practice for the space of four years, may be candidates, by attending one course of lectures; which must be in this school. Each candidate is required to exhibit all his tickets to the Dean, before his name can be enrolled.—The fee for graduation, is $20.

In conclusion, we add, that no medical school in the United States affords to the pupils, so many opportunities of witnessing important surgical operations. The Professor of Anatomy and Surgery, not only gives twelve lectures per week, (aided by Adjunct Professor Bush,); but he performs, in the presence of the classes, many operations of great interest to the student. As evidence of the superior advantages of Lexington for operative Surgery, it may be stated, that in the forenoon of the seventh of May, instant, Professor Dudley, in the presence of several members of the profession and a considerable number of pupils, operated for cataract on five eyes in three persons; performed the operation, by incision, for the radical cure of hydrocele, on two persons and removed a fungous tumor from the right temple of another individual. These patients were from Arkansas, Missouri, Ohio and Kentucky. In the course of the preceding month, the same gentleman operated, successfully, for stone in the bladder, on two individuals; making in all his one hundred and fifty-fifth operations for Lithotomy.

P. S. Lest prejudices may be drawn from an unfounded report, with regard to Professor Smith's appointment, we subjoin the following extract from a letter from that gentleman, viz:

"It having been erroneously stated in the public prints, that I have accepted the chair of Practice in the University of Transylvania but for one term, I deem it proper to state, that I have accepted the same, as is customary, indefinitely as to time, only reserving to myself the privilege of spending the periods intervening between the sessions in Baltimore, if it should comport with my interest. In regard to my professional duties, I consider myself to be identified with the University of Transylvania, and shall use my most strenuous exertions to advance its interests."

N. R. SMITH.
